The compilation of my works thus far is spread over many websites and websites. So you may have noticed that you have read the text of this article at least once already in the past. This is possible because I made a list of all my programs in the past. I have worked on between one and six games or programs per month with different variations and developments to my main subjects. There are no titles or numbers. About the Game Goal: The goal is to

The player may help Paco and his friends to find the eggs, make the egg-laying more efficient, and avoid the numerous and bigger dangers in the world of the jungle.
